

WEEKLY INSIGHT #3 – EDUCATION TRENDS

Posted on October 4, 2020

Category: Newsletters

The global eradication of poverty and the access to equitable and inclusive quality education are intricately linked. Progress has been made but we fall short of attaining universal education.

If current trends continue, in 2050, still 500 million people will have received no education at all.

Investing more in education, especially for girls, is an absolute necessity, for current and future generations.